

MOTHERHOOD

MRS. DANIEL SULLIVAN

Unquestionably preparation for healthy maternity is accomplished by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound more successfully than by any other medicine, because it gives tone and strength to the entire feminine organism and renders it perfectly normal.

A woman in good physical condition transmits to her children the blessings of a good constitution. Read what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Sullivan, 589 E. 7th Street, Flatbush, N. Y.

"What a blessing Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is to motherhood. I had a picture of my three months' old baby and myself, and the photo shows the splendid condition of our health. I am so well and the baby so healthy and happy entirely due to your excellent remedy Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it for five months before baby came and it brought me an easy confinement and kept me strong, whereas I was weak and in perfectly miserable health all the time when my first three children were born.

Mrs. Geo. Walters of Woodlawn, Ill., also writes:

"I feel it my duty to tell of the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me and to recommend it to all expect-tant mothers to insure a healthy child and easy birth. I had lost three children and was discouraged when a friend advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and it not only kept me well and strong but I have a healthy child as you will find anywhere. I hope other discouraged women may read this letter and take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and be benefited by it as I have been."

Women should remember that for more than thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been without a rival in sustaining woman's health and curing all those painful ailments peculiar to her sex. Its record shows that it has cured almost every form of female complaint, organic troubles, inflammation and ulceration, falling and displacements and consequent spinal weakness, and is peculiarly adapted to the periods of child-birth and change of life. It cures backache and all those bearing-down sensations.

If there is anything about your case you do not understand write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice. It is absolutely free. Thousands of women have done so and have received help.

MY LONG
CHERISHED TRIP.

(Original.)

From the time I was a little girl I desired to visit Europe, but since I was poor and with no expectations there was no prospect of my wish ever being gratified. When I was fifteen years old I began to save money for the purpose and by the time I was twenty-two had a sufficient amount to enable me to purchase a second class passage out and back and remain abroad six weeks. My friends and relatives—I had no parents—advised me to put my savings out at interest rather than spend them in any such fashion, but I replied that I had saved them for a purpose, would not have saved them without the purpose and did not believe in such a waste of money as interest. Besides, I maintained that fate did more for persons who were floating on the surface than for those underneath and out of sight, whereupon they assumed that I hoped to meet some rich man who would marry me. This was unkind, for I am and was very plain.

I was not to be deterred by sneers and sailed with the early summer hegira. We had a rough passage, and the person with whom I was obliged to room, a woman of fifty, was not only searick, but really ill. There was no one but me to look after her, and I must either do so or see her suffer without attention. I gathered from what she told me that she was going abroad for her health and had no definite plans for travel. When we reached port she begged me to let her go where I went. I told her frankly that I had counted on my trip from childhood. I had been seven years in saving the few hundred dollars required to make it, and to spend my time taking care of a sick woman who evidently had no money to purchase attendance and comforts would be a terrible sacrifice, but when we came to leave the steamer the poor woman was so desolate that I hadn't the heart to leave her alone. I took her with me to London and to the same apartment house.

The result of this move was that, instead of seeing the sights of the British capital, the time I had laid out for the purpose was given to Miss Tiff—that was her name—and the only way I could get out was to hire a cab and take her with me. I inferred that she could not afford the expense, for she never offered to pay the fare. Finally, desiring to go to Paris, I proposed that she should go to a hospital. This she refused to do, but said she had a relative in Paris and if I would take her there she would not ask me to do anything more for her. As I was going to Paris it was impossible for me to refuse to allow her to go on the same train. So I consented and, making a virtue of necessity, nursed her all the way.

The day after we arrived she gave me her relative's address, and I called at the house. The relative had gone away from there and had left no address. I went back to our apartments and found Miss Tiff in great agony. I called for a doctor, who pronounced her a very sick woman who would likely need a physician for a long period, and before he would do anything for her compelled me to pay his bill or a large portion of it. In advance. Miss Tiff was too ill to consult in the matter, and—well, I took what I had saved

PLOT OF BLACK HAND.

One Man Shot in Chase—Leaps Through
Trolley Car Window and Is Then Laid Low by a Bullet—An Exciting Pursuit.

New York, Sept. 4.—Three Italians who the police believe are leaders of the Black Hand society were captured yesterday after an exciting chase. Cirio Annoni, a wealthy barber, has received letters demanding $300 for more than a year. He was told that his place would be blown up unless he heeded the demands. Annoni informed the police, who told the barber to meet the alleged blackmailers on Second avenue. The detectives hid in a drug store. At the appointed hour the Italians met Annoni on the corner, and the money was turned over. The barber gave a signal and the detectives rushed up. The three Italians sprang on a passing trolley car, and an exciting chase up Second avenue began. They might have escaped but the motor-man stopped the car. Two of the Italians jumped from the car, and after a short sprint were captured. The third Italian made a long dive through the car window, and was shot while in mid-air. The wounded Italian was quickly seized and taken to Bellevue hospital a prisoner. He gave his name as Paolo Castellani. The two others, Ernesto Colli and Vincenzo Ambrosio, were taken to the station house.

WAGING WAR ON
McDONALD WIDOW.Son of "Gambler King" Seeks to Have Estate Freed from Her $50,000
Murder Bond.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—Guy McDonald, will make a formal demand upon State's Attorney Healy that the estate of his father, "Mike" McDonald, the former "gambler king," be released from the $50,000 bond of Mrs. Don McDonald, now under indictment for the murder of Webster Guerin. This means that the widow must either return as a prisoner to the county jail or obtain a new bondsman.

Mr. McDonald's protest will come as the crisis of a dramatic situation precipitated by the invasion by Mrs. McDonald of her late husband's residence at 4301 Drexel boulevard. She contends that as the widow she has a right to live in the house.

Whether or not her claim is legal will be decided today, when "Mike" McDonald's will is probated. Guy McDonald will ask Judge Cutting to either oust his step-mother from the dwelling or force her to pay rent to the estate.

In the meantime, Mrs. McDonald, with her mother, Mrs. Feldman, a maid and a nurse, is entrenched in the graystone house. She arrived there unannounced last Friday and has defied the efforts of Guy McDonald and the other heirs to eject her.

A mysterious stranger, who declares he is in the employ of no one, but is actuated simply by friendship for Mrs. McDonald, has taken up his residence in the house to see that no harm befalls her. The stranger declines to tell who he is.

WOMEN IN AUTOS
GOT VOTERS OUT.Corrupt Practices Issue Up at Election
—The Rev Joseph Anderson Won.

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 4.—The election of warden in the borough of Woodmont found the Rev. Dr. Joseph Anderson, a fellow of the Yale corporation and pastor emeritus of the First Congregational church in Waterbury, a candidate for the fourth time.

The charter requires that all voters must reside in the borough for one month before election. Women, property owners who have met that condition and who have placed their names on the registry list are allowed to vote. There were 132 names on the voting list, and 110 persons voted.

Dr. Anderson's opponent was Willis H. Upton, a banker.

Several of the wealthy women lent their automobiles to carry voters to the polls. Some one raised the question whether this was not in violation of the statute governing corrupt practices at election. The answer was that the automobiles were voluntarily lent.

Some women were not allowed to vote because they had not been in Woodmont continuously for one month. Dr. Anderson was elected by a vote of 66 to 53.

OWN ALL BIG SHOWS.

Ringlings Have Taken Over Barnum &
Bailey Interests.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—With the ending of the present season, six weeks away, Ringling Brothers, the five young men who started out with one railroad show in 1890, will control pretty nearly the whole circus business in the United States, and as the circus is distinctively an American institution, that means all of the great tent shows in the world.

It became known yesterday definitely that negotiations for the purchase of the Barnum & Bailey interests, which had been quietly under way for some time, had been closed. With the shows under the name of the original circus man, P. T. Barnum, went the ownership of Buffalo Bill's Wild West show. The Ringlings have already Adam Forepaugh and Sells Brothers' shows. The Barnum & Bailey interests and the Buffalo Bill show were purchased by the Ringlings from Mrs. James A. Bailey, controlling owner.

AMERICANS DIDN'T BOW

He Wanted to Be Unnoticed.

Marienburg, Bohemia, Sept. 4.—King Edward and several Americans figured in an incident here which caused quite a flutter.

The king, returning from hearing a comic opera, "The Merry Widow," with a suite that included the duke of Teck, Sir Edward Goschen and Mr. Drexel, passed through a room where the Americans were seated. They did not rise at his majesty's entrance.

This seeming impoliteness offended the king, who is affable only when homage is paid his rank and most punctilious that every respect be shown him.

However, satisfactory explanations were made. The Americans said that as the king is incognito, they thought it conformable to his wishes not to show any ceremony.

King Edward has spoken most graciously several times to Mrs. Hall Walker, an American, who is entertaining a party of her compatriots and of English people here.

ors Retrenchment.

Boston, Sept. 4.—The naval committee of the national House of Representatives, which has been inspecting the naval stations along the Atlantic coast, arrived here on the United States dispatch boat Dolphin Monday.

Members of the committee declared they were finding more navy yards than seemed necessary, and that great economy and efficiency would result in the abandonment of all but four naval stations and the complete equipping of these four.

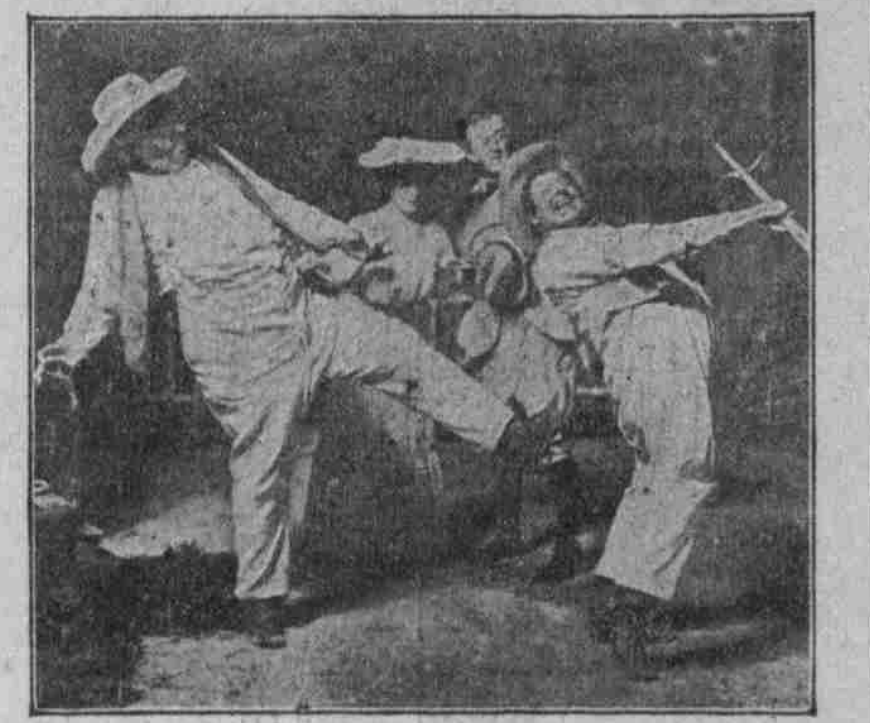

Representative Lilley of Connecticut expressed himself as wholly opposed to the plan of transferring the naval fighting strength to the Pacific.

Of a Fierce Onslaught on the Jews —
Although the Police Were Present
They Took No Action in the Matter.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 4.—The Black Hundreds began rioting in Odessa Monday afternoon, alleging that the Jews were responsible for the explosion of the bomb in the courtyard of the central police station here Saturday, resulting in the death of an artillery officer and four policemen, although it was stated at the time that the bomb was accidentally dropped by the officer. The rioters ran through the streets inhabited by the Jews, firing promiscuously right and left. Six men were killed and from fifty to sixty were wounded. The mob indulged in other brutal excesses, and beat down many victims with flexible rubber sticks. The Jewish cemetery, where thousands of Jews were praying at the gravesides of their dead, was the scene of a fierce onslaught by members of the Black Hundreds, who shot down many of the mourners with revolvers. A panic broke out in the cemetery, and many persons

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

The best thing to clean windows with is vinegar. Rub it on with a soft cloth, dry with another and polish with a wash leather.

In using linen dories on the highly polished table cut asbestos pieces to place beneath the mats, especially if there is any danger of the hot dishes marking the table top.

Dry crude carbolic acid for sinks. It is cheaper and answers the same purpose. Put the crude oil down the pipes, cover the opening and leave some time before flushing the pipes.

Emery paper if tacked upon a board is useful for smoothing the slightly broken edges of thin tumblers. By carefully rubbing the glasses back and forth a smooth surface is obtained, but not if the glass is too badly cracked.

THE HOME DOCTOR.

Avoid reading during sickness and after measles, scarlet fever and any exhausting disease.

Eating at regular intervals is more important for good digestion than the number of times each day or the quantity of food taken.

A toothbrush, provided a handful of common soda is added to the water, will very often relieve a severe headache, especially followed by a brisk rub.

One of the best remedies for removing corns is turpentine. Touch the corn every night before retiring with a little turpentine. It will come out in a very short time. Apply the turpentine with a toothpick.

Cretonne Trimming an Unusually Effective Fad of the Moment.

Cretonne trimming is growing apace and is being turned to some account in the case of wash dresses, gowns and very light and delicate of design being applied either side an entrance of lace worked up with silk to give the effect of a heavy raised embroidery. Cretonne is invaluable in meeting the demand for narrow inner vests or folds over which the fabric or kimonos bodice is laid, while on the fashionable gilet a cretonne application immediately makes for a pleasing effect, plique frequently forming the basis of the groundwork.

an immense butterfly bow, which serves as a shirt waist extender. The bow is made elaborate with lace and ribbons and extends across the entire front.

Soft silk fichus in contrasting color to the gown are worn folded low over the shoulders with the ends tucked into the girdle. Wide scarfs of tulle or chiffon are draped in the same way.

A woman was seen recently who had found a way of getting around the difficulty of offending the Audubon society and at the same time gratifying her fancy for wearing something suggesting a long trailing plume. The plume drew the attention of several women who were dining in the same restaurant. One suggested that it was made of silk, others said straw, and one humoured the guest that it surely was glass. As a matter of fact, frayed out silk, disposed in a unique fashion, was the means employed for this novel end.

Dainty frocks of white are much worn by the little girls and are always charming. Here is one that shows an attractive collar made of all over embroidery. The skirt is box plaited at the back, and there are unfurrowed lines at the front, while the ornamental collar is entirely separate.

were injured in the wild rush to escape the vengeance of the organized mob. Among the killed was a Jewish actor and a girl aged fifteen, while the wounded include two little children, each aged four years, and an old man aged seventy. A majority of the wounded refused to be taken to the hospital in ambulances. They feared that the Black Hundreds would invade the hospital and attack them there.

During the anti-Jewish attack, which lasted for several hours, the police were impassive spectators and made no arrests. The Union of Russian People passed a resolution Monday evening to annihilate, with the assistance of Cossacks, the members of the Jewish Self-Defense organization.

TRAIN AND TRACK.

A single rail line with four tracks on an elevated structure is proposed between Newark and Jersey City. Some very influential people are back of the project.

It was an interesting coincidence that the new Bangor (Me.) railroad station was opened for business on the fifty-second anniversary of the day when the first railroad train pulled out of Bangor for the west.

The Los Angeles-Pacific company, operating electric railways to several beach resorts near Los Angeles, Cal., has imported 60,000 sleepers from Formosa. These are of hard wood, most of them being of narra, a wood much used in the east for interior work.

LAW POINTS.

The liability of a municipal corporation for changing the course of drainage of surface water so as to injure private property is sustained in Roe vs. Howard county (Neb.), 5 L. R. A. (N. S.), 831.

Upon renewing a note for a debt, it is held in Branbitt vs. Deposit bank (Ky.), 6 L. R. A. (N. S.), 612, that accrued interest may be added to its face, and the combined amount form the principal of the new note, without violating the usury laws.

An owner of sheep is held, in Bacon vs. Walker, Advance Sheets, U. S. (1906) 280, not to be deprived of his property without due process of law by a statute allowing damages to be recovered from him for permitting his sheep to graze on the public domain within two miles of a dwelling house.

A HERO OF THE BUSH.

The Daring and Devotion of a Brave
Maori Youth.

Courage is not an attribute peculiar to the white man, nor is self sacrifice the prerogative of civilization. In Mr. J. C. Firth's "Nation Making" is told a story as touching in its brave devotion as any tale of the Victoria cross. The incident occurred at Orakau, where the English soldiers had just defeated the Maoris. A little party of colonial troops, pursuing fugitives, came upon three natives, two old men and one young fellow.

The youth, seeing the soldiers, dropped on one knee and aimed with his gun at the advancing party, which halted a moment, while the old man ran toward the forest. The old man had thrown away their firearms in order to make escape easier.

The soldiers fired at the youth, but missed. Without discharging his gun he sprang to his feet and ran on in advance until he caught up with the old men once more. Then, facing about, he presented his gun as before, but reserved his fire.

The weary old men gradually drew near cover. Once more the soldiers fired and missed; once more the gallant fellow turned and bounded on. The old men were close to the forest when the youth, nearly fainting, again knelt and took aim, but still did not fire.

The soldiers shot him as he knelt and rushed to the forest, but failed to capture the two fugitives, who, safe in the dense underbrush, made their escape.

On their return the soldiers found the brave young fellow lying dead. His gun was empty; it had not been loaded at all. With it he had covered the retreat of the old men and secured their freedom by the loss of his own life. No more gallant deed of heroic devotion was ever accomplished in any land.
